

B R E W E R

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELORS

Alexa D. O'Brien
Investigator

Alexa D. O'Brien is an investigator at Brewer, Attorneys & Counselors' New York Office.

Ms. O'Brien's has a background researching and writing about national security and law enforcement. Her work has been published in The New York Times, VICE News, The Cairo Review of Global Affairs, Guardian (UK), The Daily Beast, and featured on the BBC, PBS, NPR, and PRI.

She previously worked as a criminal justice investigator at a Washington, D.C. think-tank on a bipartisan, blue-ribbon commission report on Oklahoma's capital punishment system. Her work included research for the first cost study on the death penalty versus life without parole in that state.

Prior to her work as a researcher and writer, Ms. O'Brien designed and implemented information architectures and digital strategies for organizations in the private and governmental sectors.

Education

B.A., Kenyon College, 1995

Contact

aob@brewerattorneys.com
212.284.8464